LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Small Paragraphs of General Local Interest.

News of Phoenix and Tributary Region. The Doings of People and Other Matters.

License to marry was issued yesterday to Rafael Morietega and Carlos Mendibles.

The case of Officer Molloy, set for hearing before Justice Kincaid yesterday on a charge of whipping a boy named Crowley, was taken on a change of venue to Justice Johnstone's court.

Dr. Clymer was very successful yesterday in canvassing for membership in a branch of the Red Cross society to be established here. A meeting will be held at the doctor's office tonight. Twenty ladies have enlisted.

Articles of incorporation of the Nicholson Gold Mining company were filed in the office of the territorial secretary yesterday. The company is not of recent organization. It was incorporated three years ago by Frank Nicholson, William Christy and Alexander Davis. The capital stock is $1,000,000, divided into 40,000 shares.

Anton Gould and Francois Faure were yesterday admitted to citizenship in United States court. The former is a native of Austria and took out his first papers in the county eight years ago. The latter is a native of France and made his first move toward citizenship in New York.

Shelby M. Cullom, deputy collector of internal revenue for Arizona, yesterday received word that he would be given an assistant. The revenue tax under the war bill, most of whose provisions with respect to stamps more than doubles the work of the office, which has heretofore had to keep track only of the liquor and tobacco trades.

Quite a number of persons had the curiosity yesterday to visit Dorris Bros' store to inspect the new opera house chair just received as a sample of the carload now on the way. It is a modern chair, sure enough, comfortable and handy, with coat and hat rack and all the latest inventions attached. The opera house is going to be as nicely furnished inside as any place of the kind in the country.

The debris of the fire of last week has been removed to a vacant lot in front of the Hotel Adams belonging to Dr. Goodrich, the owner of the scorched building. The man who directed the removal of the burnt awning and other rubbish evidently supposed the doctor might want to go into the charcoal business, and so partly recoup himself for the devastation by the flames.

On account of the absorption of time in district court by the case of Hirst vs. the Glendale Fruit company, the argument by Assistant District Attorney Bullard on the motion for a new trial in the case of Josiah Anderson went over until today. The damage case of Brill against the S. F. P. & P. railroad was continued until October. The suit of the DeMund Lumber company against Campbell was dismissed.

There are many ways by which a silent partner in a business house may indicate his connection with such a house. There are also many ways by which he is enabled to hide such connection. When a man deliberately attaches a street hose to a hydrant and sprinkles in front of the Gazette office he lays himself open to the suspicion at least of being one of the editors. Several citizens mentioned this yesterday.

S. N. Phillips was badly bitten by a dog yesterday afternoon. He was superintending a chain gang at work on North Seventh avenue. Mr. Phillips went to the rear of a house after a drink of water. A huge black mastiff chained near by sprang at him with so great force that the chain was broken. He caught Mr. Phillips by the left arm above the elbow and lacerated it terribly. He also bit him on the wrist and on a finger. Mr. Phillips was unarmed, but he caught the brute by an ear, held on with desperation and forced him to release his last hold. A woman came out of the house and took charge of the animal.

Jose Beltran was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing a watch from J. E. Grove. He was committed to jail by Justice Johnstone for trial in the afternoon. When he was brought into court he was hardly recognizable. There was a deep gash on his forehead and another on the back. His case had been already passed upon. He had been tried in the kangaroo court and these marks were the judgment rendered by Josiah Anderson, the chief magistrate of the kangaroos. Beltran said he was sitting in his cell when Anderson came in and demanded a dollar. It was refused and then he said Anderson belabored him with a slungshot. The matter was investigated afterward and Anderson admitted having inflicted the wounds, but said they were caused by Beltran having been thrown against the bars of the cell. Dr. Hughes examined Beltran while he was in court and he said they were so serious that they demanded immediate attention. A warrant will be sworn out against Anderson charging him with murderous assault. He is already under conviction of having shot at John M. Mullen with intent to murder, and a motion for a new trial is now pending.

NAVY DEPARTMENT

Sec. Long Has a Word of Praise for the Chiefs of Bureaus.

Washington, June 29.—The secretary of the navy, speaking of the general satisfaction that has been expressed with the navy department, said that, in justice, it should be borne in mind that the navy is always in a state of mobilization, although the coming of the war had necessitated a vast amount of special preparation and a large increase of vessels and naval force. The secretary added:

"I notice that sometimes I get a word of praise, and sometimes Mr. Roosevelt, who was my assistant secretary, and who certainly deserved it, as does his successor. But let me tell you that before there are men entitled to special gratitude and recognition who will never get half the praise they deserve. These are the chiefs of the various naval bureaus. They have borne the real burden of preparation. When war became imminent, they were told they would be held responsible for having the work of their bureaus done properly and efficiently. That work they have discharged with the utmost ability, efficiency, thoroughness and success. There has been no question of supply of provisions, of coal, of ammunition, and ordnance and munitions of war, of clothing, of hospital stores and outfits, of the construction of ships, and of steam engineering supplies.

"It is one of the misfortunes of every great era like this that many of the men who do the work and bear the burden are rarely mentioned, and never get the credit which belongs to them. If I can do anything to secure these men just appreciation, I want to do it. They are all experts and men of experience in their various lines. It is pretty hard, too, for some of them who know that the glories of war are won, not in bureaus, but at the front in battle. They have sometimes pleaded hard, and it has not been easy either for the department to refuse their requests for active service or for them to accept the necessity of remaining where they are. I hope you will say a good word for them. Few know the extent of what they have undertaken and done, or their professional competency, spirit, and standard."

SOME UNLUCKY STONES.

The burglar noiselessly opened the jewel case and examined the contents. "Ah," he said to himself, "madame ought to have known better than to invest anything in opals. They are unlucky."

And he transferred them to his pocket and quietly climbed out of the window again.—Chicago paper.

WAR HAS FORCED EXPANSION

Senator Proctor on America's New Colonial Policy.

Washington, June 29.—Senator Proctor said tonight: "Without committing myself to a policy of imperialism, I will say that the indications clearly point to the formation of a new colonial policy by the United States government. The fortunes of war have brought to us islands that we would never have dreamed of securing by treaty or purchase, but they have come to us in such a way as to preclude the possibility of disposing of them without serious difficulty. When hostilities have ceased and the nation again starts on its journey of peace and tranquility, there will be ample time to map out our future policy. Conquests can be lumped together and the whole question of imperial aggrandizement disposed of then.

"No matter what disposition is made of our conquests, we must have a stronger navy. My judgment is that we should double our present sea strength. It is as certain as anything can be, that is not already a fact, that the great battles of the future will be fought on the high seas. This is a point which we would do well to keep constantly in view. Our coast cities should be made impregnable to attack. Our seaboard and gulf coasts should be fortified to such an extent that it would be impossible for a foreign foe to demolish our coast cities."
